

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A radio multi-channel data communicating system and method thereof and an image data transmitting system using the same which can be used as a real time image transmission system, are provided, in which an existing communication network is configured into a radio multi-channel communication network, data is divided and transmitted and then received and decoded, to thereby transmit and receive a large amount of data quickly.

0917625-073101